Penny Green opened the meeting – She assured that the law department were doing everything they possibly could to make this awful situation somewhat easier. She encouraged all students to sign up for all the classes they can. With regard to assessments and exams, she explained to students that there will be no face to face exams. The exams committee are looking into ways the exams/assessments can be now be held, to ensure that a QLD can still be obtained. She also asked all student reps to look out for each other and their cohorts.

All reps mainly had the same concerns:

Exams/ Assessments

Will dates be pushed backed – at the moment not sure

Will assessments be changed ie from exam to assessment – at the moment not sure

How will they work, will we just have 2 hours, concerned with time differences - probably not, you will probably be given 24 hours.

Course reps were assured, that all answers to these questions will addressed asap, by the end of next week at the latest.

Will the Graduation take place – it will at some point, but no dates.

Students that have had to leave accommodation in a rush, have left books and notes – the Department are working hard to get books available online. If notes have been left, then ECs could be put in.
