Programme outline

The LLB Law in Practice programme lasts four years: the first two are spent at Queen Mary; the third is spent on an internship with a legal practitioner and the final year at Queen Mary. This Qualifying Law Degree covers all the core modules needed to satisfy professional requirements for the foundations of legal knowledge and skills in England and Wales and some other jurisdictions.

The third year of the programme is spent pursuing a legal internship with a legal services employer (currently law firms, an in-house legal team, and the legal function of a charity). Other employers may be added in subsequent years.

A notable feature of the Queen Mary law degree programmes is the wide range of options available, many of which are taught by leading researchers in those subjects. In the final year there is an option to do supervised research in a topic of your choosing leading to a dissertation.

Aims of the programme

The LLB Law in Practice programme offers intellectually able students the opportunity to study law from a variety of perspectives in a supportive environment at Queen Mary and during a year-long internship with a legal employer. Teaching at Queen Mary is strongly underpinned by the Department's research. The programme encourages students to explore legal rules, principles, reasoning and ideas in their comparative, social, political, economic, historical, philosophical, and practical contexts.

The year-long internship provides students with an opportunity to engage with real-world legal issues and to gain practical skills, in preparation for employment.

In the final year at Queen Mary, students take a module in Jurisprudence and Legal Theory, which examines aspects of the philosophy of law. Beyond this, the programme enables students to select modules covering a wide variety of subjects to reflect their interests and aspirations. There is an opportunity to research and write a dissertation in the final year.

Outside the programme, students may choose to take part in the work of the Queen Mary Legal Advice Centre, in a student-led Pro-Bono legal advice scheme, and in mooting.

What will you be expected to achieve?

Students who successfully complete the programme will demonstrate achievement in all the following areas.

- Applying your knowledge from the first two years of your degree, and the modules you have studied.
- Building workplace skills related to legal practice ranging from effective research and drafting skills, to how to work effectively with colleagues and with clients.
- Developing good workplace practices such as managing time effectively and good project management skills to deliver work projects during the placement.
- Develop the reflective practice to identify learning from the experience in a reflective portfolio, and be able to communicate the learning in an assessed presentation at the end of the year.

Please note that the following information is only applicable to students who commenced their Level 4 studies in 2017/18, or 2018/19

In each year of undergraduate study, students are required to study modules to the value of at least 10 credits, which align to one or more of the following themes:

- networking
- multi- and inter-disciplinarity
- international perspectives
- enterprising perspectives.

These modules will be identified through the Module Directory, and / or by your School or Institute as your studies progress.

Academic Content:

A 1	acquire and use knowledge of concepts, values, principles and rules of legal systems, focusing on England and Wales and the European Union
A 2	explain the main legal institutions and procedures of these legal systems
A 3	demonstrate the study in depth and in context of substantive areas of these legal systems
A 4	acquire and use knowledge of concepts, values, principles and rules of the legal system studied during a year in placement

Disciplinary Skills - able to:
B 1	apply legal knowledge to a situation of limited complexity in order to provide arguable conclusions for concrete problems (actual or hypothetical)
B 2	apply analytical skills to investigate unfamiliar problems
B 3	identify and retrieve up-to-date legal information, using print and electronic primary and secondary sources
B 4	recognise and rank items and issues in terms of relevance and importance
B 5	bring together information and materials from a variety of different sources
B 6	produce a synthesis of relevant doctrinal and policy issues in relation to a topic
B 7	make a critical judgement of the merits of particular arguments
B 8	present and make a reasoned choice between alternative solutions

Attributes:
C 1	act independently in planning and undertaking tasks in areas of law already studied
C 2	undertake independent research in areas of law not previously studied starting from standard legal information sources
C 3	reflect on their own learning and to seek and make use of feedback
C 4	use spoken and written English effectively in relation to legal matters
C 5	present knowledge or an argument in a way which is comprehensible to others and which is directed at their concerns
C 6	read and discuss legal materials which are written in technical and complex language
C 7	where relevant and as the basis for an argument, to use, present and evaluate information provided in numerical or statistical form
C 8	work in groups as a participant who contributes effectively to the group's task
C 9	develop a strong sense of intellectual integrity
C 10	where a student has studied at another university law school at which the medium of study is a language other than English, to understand and use the relevant language proficiently in relation to legal matters

How will you learn?

At Queen Mary, teaching for the core modules is typically through lectures (to the whole year group) and tutorials (groups of about 12 students). By attending lectures you hear from experts in a legal field who will also be setting and marking your examinations. Lectures may have several different goals: to provide an introduction to a particular topic; to cast light on the context of a module; to provide alternatives to orthodox approaches; to provide an overview of the topic; to explain particularly difficult aspects of a topic; to introduce comparative aspects of a topic; to cover reform proposals and recent reforms in the law which are not covered in the textbooks.

Elective modules make use of a variety of teaching methods. Small group work often include discussion structured around questions and readings distributed in advance. Talking about law fluently is a vital part of developing legal reasoning skills. By expressing ideas you are able to refine and reflect on them. Tutorials and seminars are supportive environments in which ideas can be exchanged and difficulties can be ironed out.

A considerable amount of independent study is expected throughout the programme. This involves reading cases, legislation and academic texts. Independent study may also involve working with other students in pairs or small groups: students are encouraged to set up informal study groups to help each other get to grips with topics before or after tutorials and seminars.

All modules at Queen Mary make use of an online learning environment.

The approach to learning during the year of the internship will be in the form of work-based learning. Students will learn by observation and by gaining practical skills and experience in the relevant area.

How will you be assessed?

The majority of core modules are assessed by examination. Elective modules are assessed in a variety of ways, including examinations, course work and for LAW6035 Dissertation.

During the placement year, assessment will be through a reflective portfolio and an oral presentation of such portfolio.

How is the programme structured?

Please specify the structure of the programme diets for all variants of the programme (e.g. full-time, part-time - if applicable). The description should be sufficiently detailed to fully define the structure of the diet.

Students are required to take 120 credits each year at Queen Mary and the programme is 480 credits in total. Modules are either 30 credits or 15 credits.

In year one, there are two 30-credit core modules: Public Law and Land Law and four 15 credit modules: Law in Context; European Union Law; Contract Law I and Contract Law II.

In the second year there are three 30-credit core modules: Tort Law; Equity and Trusts, and Criminal Law. In addition, students select 30-credits of elective modules.

The third year is the placement year. Students will be required to keep a weekly reflective journal, which will be presented as a portfolio at the end of the internship. Students will be assessed on a pass/fail basis and the placement year is a 120-credit module. This module does not count towards the degree classification.

In the final year, there is one 30-credit core modules: Jurisprudence and Legal Theory, in addition students select 90-credits of elective modules.

What are the entry requirements?

As for M100 LLB Law

How will the quality of the programme be managed and enhanced? How do we listen to and act on your feedback?

The Programme Director is responsible for the academic content and quality of the programme and any changes to the curriculum, in addition to ensuring the maintenance of a consistent quality of teaching across the programme.

The Law undergraduate office is responsible for the overall administrative delivery of the programme, including any issues relating to registration, complaints, pastoral care, appeals, and award for the programme.

The overall management and enhancement of the programme lies with the Department of Law's Education Committee chaired by the Director of Education.

The Staff-Student Liaison Committee provides a formal means of communication and discussion between schools/institutes and its students. The committee consists of student representatives from each year in the school/institute together with appropriate representation from staff within the school/institute. It is designed to respond to the needs of students, as well as act as a forum for discussing programme and module developments. Staff-Student Liaison Committees meet regularly throughout the year.

Student views are incorporated formally through representation on the Department of Law Education Committee.

All schools/institutes operate an Annual Programme Review of their taught undergraduate and postgraduate provision. APR is a continuous process of reflection and action planning which is owned by those responsible for programme delivery. Students' views are considered in this process through analysis of the NSS and module evaluations.

What academic support is available?

The induction week before the start of Semester A provides introductory talks on all the services and support mechanisms available within the school and college. The plasma screens within the school also update on timetabling, events and support services within the school. The virtual learning environment (QMplus) has information on the different modules and supervisory advice for dissertations as well as personalised teaching timetables. A module talk is held at the start of the module selection process to enable students make informed choices when selecting their electives for the following academic year.

Feedback

Feedback on progress in each module is provided throughout the year in various ways (for example, comments on written assignments, and guidance given in lectures/seminars and tutorials).

Advisors

Every student is supported by the Student Support Team whom they can approach should they have any queries or issues related to their academic studies or academic development.

Feedback and Advice Hours

All academics have dedicated feedback and advice hours published on the website so students may visit them to discuss any aspect of their learning on specific modules.

How inclusive is the programme for all students, including those with disabilities?

Queen Mary has a central Disability and Dyslexia Service (DDS) that offers support for all students with disabilities, specific learning difficulties and mental health issues. The DDS supports all Queen Mary students: full-time, part-time, undergraduate, postgraduate, UK and international at all campuses and all sites.

Students can access advice, guidance and support in the following areas:

- Finding out if you have a specific learning difficulty like dyslexia
- Applying for funding through the Disabled Students' Allowance (DSA)
- Arranging DSA assessments of need
- Special arrangements in examinations
- Accessing loaned equipment (e.g. digital recorders)
- Specialist one-to-one study skills tuition
- Ensuring access to course materials in alternative formats (e.g. Braille)
- Providing educational support workers (e.g. note-takers, readers, library assistants)
- Access to specialist mentoring support for students with mental health issues and Autistic Spectrum Disorders.

Programme-specific rules and facts

Standard bachelors programmes

To progress from one developmental year to the next on a standard LLB a student must both:
i take and pass modules as follows:

a. developmental year one to two: take 120 credits including a minimum 90 at level 4 in year one. Pass a minimum 90 credits in year one. Achieve a minimum mean average year mark of 40.0 or higher.

b. b) developmental year two to the final developmental year: take 120 credits including a minimum 90 at level 5 in year two. Pass a minimum 195 credits across years one and two. Achieve a minimum weighted average mark of 40.0 or higher using the two mean average year marks in a 1:3 weighting (year one counting for 25 per cent and year two for 75 per cent of the mark).

ii fail (after resit) no more than 30 credits in any one developmental year.

Students must pass the prescribed assessments in year 3. The assessments are a requirement for progression and do not normally contribute to the classification of the award at the end of year 4. Students who fail to take and pass the prescribed assessments in year 3 must transfer to the final year of the M100 LLB degree programme.

A specified sub-set of modules are designated as foundations of legal knowledge for professional accreditation as a qualifying law degree (QLD) by the Bar Standards Board of England and Wales (BSB). To achieve this accreditation, a student must meet the standard requirements for award, and either:

i pass all of the designated modules; or,

ii pass all but one of those modules and, in the remaining failed module, achieve a module mark of 35.0 or higher completion of this programme, including passing all 7 of the prescribed modules, should satisfy the academic element of training necessary as part of entry to the Bar. The Bar has additional requirements such as vocational experience which are not included in this programme. The 7 modules are listed below. This programme also provides a sound educational basis for students wishing to further their training and take the Solicitors Qualifying Exam by the Solicitors Regulation Authority.

A sub-set of modules are designated as foundations of legal knowledge for professional accreditation as a qualifying law degree.

The designated modules are as follows:

- Obligations I (Contract): satisfied by taking and passing LAW4104 Elements of Contract Law at QMUL
- Obligations II (Tort): satisfied by taking and passing LAW5001 Tort Law at QMUL
- Criminal Law: satisfied by taking and passing LAW5005 Criminal Law at QMUL
- Equity and the Law of Trusts: satisfied by taking and passing LAW6056 Equity and Trusts (Level 6) at QMUL
- Law of the European Union: satisfied by taking and passing LAW4001 Public Law and the 15-credit module LAW5105 Law of the EU at QMUL
- Property Law (Land Law): satisfied by taking and passing LAW4006 Land Law at QMUL
- Public Law (Constitutional and Administrative Law): satisfied by taking and passing LAW4001 Public Law

Links with employers, placement opportunities and transferable skills

When you arrive, you will meet the School of Law's dedicated Careers Adviser, part of the Queen Mary Careers Team, who is regularly available in the department for one-to-one support. The Law Adviser also manages Careers Brief, the School's careers website, and arranges employer workshops in areas such as commercial awareness, applications and interview skills.

The Legal Advice Centre provides undergraduate law students with the opportunity to place law into a practical legal context under the supervision of volunteer lawyers. Lawyers from Allen & Overy, Field Fisher Waterhouse Mishcon de Reya, Nabas Legal and Reed Smith work closely with students, providing guidance and supervision, as well as training and careers advice.

The Queen Mary Student Pro Bono Group (QMSPBG) is a student group created by students for students. As students develop their skills and legal knowledge, they are able to become involved in increasingly challenging and hands-on projects. The Queen Mary Student Pro Bono Group has well-developed links with the London legal community. Students have the opportunity to volunteer at organisations that provide pro bono legal advice and to 'shadow' solicitors. Placement programmes operate through partnerships with leading law firms such as Bryan Cave Leighton Paisner LLP, SNR Denton, Clifford Chance and Reed Smith LLP. Queen Mary runs a Streetlaw Programme, which is based on a US model to provide an outreach volunteer programme to local schools and communities. Students visit primary and secondary schools to teach pupils relevant parts of the law. The Group also offers exciting opportunities in international law, in the past students have worked with organisations such as A4ID and Lawyers Without Borders.

The Queen Mary Mooting Society plays an active part of undergraduate life at Queen Mary. Under the auspices of the Student Moot Master and Student Mooting Committee, students have the opportunity to become involved in both internal and external mooting competitions.
